Credo Reference: It’s Not Wikipedia

Have a research topic you know nothing about? Credo Reference can help! A lot like Wikipedia, Credo Reference has background information on almost every topic – and you can cite it in your paper! Credo Reference is a great place to start your research, whether you’re completely in the dark about the topic or you just need some help getting started. Rather than using Google and getting back more results than you know what to do with, give Credo Reference a try!

Book Recommendation
The Death of Expertise by Thomas Nichols

Library Call number: 303.4833 N616

When did “expert” become a bad word? Why does ignorance of a topic now make a person “qualified” on the topic? When did the voice of an expert become worth less than a blogger’s opinion? Nichols explores these topics and more in this book, along with discussing their implications. While questioning authority and those who hold it is an American tradition, Nichols reminds us that sometimes those in authority legitimately know things we do not.

Recommendation provided by Radonna Holmes

Questions?

As always, we welcome your questions and are happy to assist you in any way we can. We are also available for step-by-step demonstrations of any library service. Feel free to call us at 972-825-4761 or email at library@sagu.edu. We look forward to equipping you!

Hours

The library is regularly open Monday - Friday from 7:30 AM - 11:00 PM and Saturday from 11:00 AM - 11:00 PM. We are open shortened hours during holidays; special hours will be posted to our website.

-Nelson News is created and edited by Tiffany Hudson